ANNOUNCEMENTS DAVIS THEATRE.

The Viotim, Mutual Master Picture, and Big Novelty Musical Act.

There will be a complete change There will be a complete change of photoplays at the Davis today and the feature is another Mutual master picture called The Victim, featuring Mae Marsh and Robert Harron. The story of the picture tells how just a boy—a clever, hard-working locksmith—is employed to make a duplicate key for a business man's eafe, and the latter's dishonest clerk takes advantage of the incident to rob his employer and throw incident to rob his employer and throw the blame upon the young mechanic, who is found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary. There is a tingling, the pentientary. There is a tinging, exciting escape from the prison, and then a new life begins in a far-away city, where the convict secures employment, later becomes a successful merchant and marries a young girl, ignorant of his past. But the dishonest clerk who has come upon any ways.

There will also be a two-reel American drama. The Honor of the District Attorney, a two-part drama featuring Vivian Rich. The comedy to complete the bill is a Komic production and is just one long laugh.

The vaudeville today is another Keith act, Paul Petching and company presenting The Musical Flower Garden, and it is one of the pretiest musical series.

COMING TO THE DAVIS. Vaudeville's Biggest Sensation, The Fashion Shop.

The Fashion Shop, a sumptuous musical comedy novelty, one of the most original vaudeville creations of the decade, a sartorial surprise as well as a ripping farce, with musical trimmings, headlines the bill at the Davis theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This big feature is the only thing of its kind on the stage. It is a most elaborate production, introducing clever musical comedy entertaines and beautiful models in a spectacular and melodious operetta in sical comedy novelty, one of the most tacular and melodious operetta in q which the fashions vie with fun and if which the fashions vie with fun and catchy airs, and in which there is something doing every second to amuse and hold the attention. A magnificent set of special scenery and the most striking costumes imaginable are essential to the act. Hugh Jansen, who is responsible for this captivating creation, has surrounded himself with a company which includes players of exceptional ability and girls of rare exceptional ability and girls of rare beauty of face and figure. One of the big effects in The Fashion Shop is where the models are arrayed in beautiful source of the sou tiful gowns, gorgeous examples of the dressmaking art, from a single bolt of dress goods. Not a pin, not a button, not a hook is used in this astonishing accomplishment, and the result is wonderful.

This is another Keith big time act, and will be an added feature with Mu-tual master pictures and Keystone COLONIAL THEATRE. Otherwise Bill Harrison, Two Reels, With Joseph Byron Totten.

With popular Joseph Byron Totten of the big Easanay cast, now working at Pendleton Hill, in this vicinity, in the leading role, the very unusual story of Otherwise Bill Harrison becomes a remarkably absorbing one. It tells of a newsboy who day-dreams that he is a newsboy who day-dreams that he is a government detective sent to capture a gang of crooks. A pretty little maid, known to the newsboy as the "girl living in the big brick mansion," becomes the heroine of his dreams. The scenes depicting the action occurring in his dreams are very thrilling, and in no way partake of a dreamy atmosphere until the climax occurs, and the scenes revert to the primary conditions and find the newsle

Contestant No. 4. Mrs. J. E. Smith of Canterbury gave A Plea for Rum. This recitation was very brilliant, as it was a satire on the liquor traffic. Her recitation was something new in the line of gold medal contests. Mrs. Smith said:

"You will doubtless be surprised when I tell you that I am to speak to you in the interest of rum. Because the temperance people have become so uncharitable toward the poor rumseller, I have taken it upon myself to speak a few words in their favor. I am not a rumseller myself, nor am I directly interested in the traffic, but I can see how the saloon benefits society and I love justice and believe in giving every man his due.

A Paying Business.

A Paying Business. Well, then in the first place does a paying business, any salconkeeper will tell you that, and of course they ought to know. When you can buy whiskey for two cents a glass and sell it for ten of course it pays. In order, to have business good and trade lively there should be a dram shop on every corner and a half dosen midway, for no matter how dull times are people will spendimoney for drink. ployment, later becomes a successful merchant and marries a young girl, ignorant of his past. But the dishonest olerk, who has ceine upon evil ways, locates him and starts a system of blackmall. Then he is forced to take part in a bank robbery, a picture that is graphic in its realism. The underground tunneling into the bank, the deadly battle in the vault and the final capture of the crooks are scenes that almost baffie description. Mae Marsh plays the part of the wife and she rises to the full demands of the character. For there are big moments in the play, moments that call for dramatic genius of the highest order. Robert Harron as the husband plays with youthful impetuosity; there is a strong company of supporting players, and the pictures the misless are strikingly beautiful.

There will also be a two-reel American drama. The Honor of the District Attorney, a two-part drama featuring Yivian Rich. The comedy to complete.

Trouble on Hands, Suffered Awfully, Could Not Put Hands in Water, Used Cuticura, In a Month Would Never Know Hands Were Sore.

Never Know Hands Were Sore.

71 Bessom St.; Lynn; Mass.—My trouble broke out with little pimples on my hands. They would fill with a watery substance and would break.

After a while the whole backs and palms of my hands were inflamed. I suffered awfully with the itching and burning. I would scratch until my hands were red, the itching and burning were so intense. Would keep swake half the night. I could not put my hands in water for just as soon as it touched them I would almost go crary. For one year and a half I could not do my work.

"I tried everything anybody told me about. My hands were sore two years before I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first time I used them I fels relieved and the itching began to stop. In a mouth you would never know that my hands were ever sore." (Signed) Mrs., Susie M. Edson, Oct. 1, 1914.

SIX KILLED IN COLLISION

Freight Crashed Into Special Carrying Members of K. of P. Lodge. Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 12.-Six lives were lost today when a heavy freight train on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railroad crashed into a southwestern rainroad crashed into a special train carrying members of the Knights of Pythias lodge of Mount Sterling, Ohio, who were returning from an outing at Star Point. More than a score were injured, some so than a score were injured, some so seriously that they may not recover.

The accident occurred at Orient, 14 miles south of Columbus, during a torrential rainstorm. The passenger train had stopped to take on water when the freight train struck it, smashing the crowded wooden coach in the rear into small fragments.

Four members of the excuursion party were killed outright. Two others died in hospitals after being brought to this city on a special train.

The state utilities commission sent your pocket. Did you ever think what an important factor rum is when it comes to arranging sub-national affairs? If we had no whiskey to buy votes with, the other party would be sure to win and this country would go to smash. Then see how beautifully the license system paves the streets of our villages; but even this does not satisfy some. Oh, let us no longer talk of a high license, but let us have this glorious beverage free. Why not, if it is a good thing, and surely I have proved you that it is. The state utilities commission sent inspectors to the scene and will hold proved you that it is.

Next came a vocal duet by Mrs.

Kimball and Mrs. Alice Willoughby of a hearing to fix responsibility for

Only a year of war! A 6-ROOM cottage for rent at Pleas-ure Beach for the last two weeks in August. Box 442, Norwich. aug11d

Only a year of weeping—
A year of mothers fears.
Of rage and rout, of hope drowned out
By butchered babies' tears!
A year of gloom, on-sweeping
Mid deeds the saints abhor:
A year of wrath down hell's own path!
Only a year of war!

POETRY

ORLY A YEAR OF WARL

Only a year of sorrow—
Twelve tombs, one after one;
Where days arise in blackened sides
And in red skies are done!
And what of the Tomorrow
Out through Time's corridor?
Must we still cry to Him on high,
"Only a year of war?"
